Assembly Gets His Program

Ohio Financial Outlook Tight

COLUMBUS — (INS) — A plea for economy in government was expected to be coupled tonight with demands for anti-gambling laws with teeth in them and stricter strip mine regulations by Gov. Frank J. Lausche.

The new governor spent a great part of his first week in office drafting the specific recommendations he will make at 8:30 p. m. to a joint House-Senate session of the Ohio legislature.

Finances are expected to play a major part in the important address. Lausche, who insists on no new state taxes, already has told caucuses of both Senate and House Democrats that he believes expenditures can be raised only $4,000,000 a year if the state is to be kept on a pay-as-you-go basis.

Lausche figures that general revenue expenses run $254,000,000 a year right now, while the most the state can expect in taxes in 1949 is $270,000,000.

That would leave $16,000,000 to boost appropriations — except for the fact that, by constitutional amendment, the voters of Ohio have decreed that the first $12,000,000 to come into the treasury each year shall be set aside to pay on the bonus Ohio is giving to veterans of World War II. Hence the $4,000,000 figure.

Of course, Ohio still has a treasury surplus estimated at about $70,000,000. Lausche, however, contends that this should be used only for permanent improvement and not for operating expenses, since once gone it cannot be replaced unless taxes are increased —something Lausche refuses to do.

10 TIMES TOO HIGH

Of Lausche's $4,000,000, schools are demanding about $17,000,000, local government up to $18,000,000, and state employes at least $5,000,000 more. That totals about $40,000,000 — ten times what the governor says is available.

Lausche is expected to touch also on two other important subjects. He told the Senate and House caucuses that he wanted the power to remove sheriffs who refused to enforce the anti-gambling or any other laws, and that he insists on more stringent regulation of strip mining.

His own Democratic party has a slight majority in both houses—69-65 in the House and 19-14 in the Senate. In the House, however, it is not considered a "working majority," and cannot cram through controversial legislation in the face of threatened intra-party revolt unless the program can be sold to at least some of the Republicans.

Probe Lower Berth Attack

LOS ANGELES—(INS)—Los Angeles police detectives and railroad special agents today pressed an investigation into a criminal attack on a woman in a lower pullman berth on the Southern Pacific's west coast limited.

A third of the 300 passengers who were on the train have been questioned. While the investigators are working in secret, there has been no indication that an arrest is in sight.

Victim of the strange attack was Mrs. Opal L. Holmes, 35-year-old mother of two children, who was returning from a visit to her husband at North Richland, Wash.

Two sailors who were said by police to have been seen drinking with Mrs. Holmes in the club car were detained for a time but were cleared.

Mrs. Holmes was in lower berth No. 5. She reported that a man climbed into the berth while she was asleep and was assaulting her when she awakened. He fled, tearing the berth curtain, when she screamed.

The train was stopped at Klamath Falls, Ore., and held there for nearly five hours while an investigation was made.

Tonight's (Ouch!) Tax Deadline

WASHINGTON —(AP)— There is a deadline tonight for many taxpayers. Ordinarily it would have been Saturday, Jan. 15—but is was extended until midnight tonight since the original deadline fell on a day when the government closes up shop.

It's the last chance to file declarations (estimates) on 1948 income or correcting declarations filed earlier. For farmers it will be their first contact with 1948 taxes. Farmers whose income exceeded $600 must declare the amount.

In addition to farmers, those who must file estimates or make the final 1948 quarterly payment include doctors, lawyers, persons operating their own business and salaried workers whose income taxes are not covered fully by withholdings from their pay.

Chill Winds To Follow Warm Wave

Mercury Heads Downward In Ohio

Winter's icy breath will send shivers down the spines of Mansfielders tonight and Tuesday after a week end of spring-like temperatures and rain.

The weatherman predicted "considerably colder with snow flurries in the northwest and occasional rain changing to snow flurries in the east and south portions." Tuesday will be cloudy and moderately cold, he said.

The mercury stood at 31 degrees at noon today. Sunday's high reading was a "balmy" 54 degrees at 2:30 p. m. Rainfall was officially measured at three-tenths of an inch.

While the state waited for its long-overdue winter weather, a cold wave swept over the nation from Canada to the Gulf Coast, giant ice jams causing floods along the Missouri river and 1,000,000 sheep faced starvation in deep western snowdrifts.

The third blizzard in two weeks ripped across Idaho, Nevada, Utah, Montana, Minnesota and the Dakotas during the week end but lost its punch as it veered northward into Canada yesterday.

The storm sent forth a wave of cold air which was expected to reach the east coast by tomorrow. Temperatures plunged as far south as Louisiana.

CLEAR WEATHER DUE

The cold was accompanied by high winds and light rain and snow. But forecasters said a high pressure area in the midlands would give that area a few days of crisp clear weather.

At Salt Lake City, regional Supervisor Hugh M. Bryan of the Federal Land management bureau warned that 1,000,000 sheep are imperiled because deep snow prevented truckloads of feed from reaching them.

He charged that rotary snow plows that could have broken through to the sheep during the week end were used instead to keep roads open to mountain ski resorts.

Some of the sheep have already died of starvation and 800,000 more are "in immediate peril," he said.

Today's freezing temperatures in Southern California followed a damaging gale in the area yesterday and the forecast was for colder tonight.

Jaywalker Shot to Death

CLEVELAND —(INS)— A 42-year-old Cleveland man was shot and killed by a policeman last night as he tried to flee from custody after his arrest for allegedly jaywalking and resisting an officer.

The dead man was identified as Jeffie Moore by his wife, Nancy, 41, who said they had recently separated because of domestic trouble.

The shooting occurred as Moore stepped from the rear of the wagon, striking Patrolman John T. Conway and kicking another patrolman in the stomach. In the ensuing chase, Conway shot Moore. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Emergency clinic with a bullet in his back.

Peiping Tottering, Asks Truce

Palestine's Outlook Better

(Compiled From Wire Services)

A peace delegation left besieged Peiping today to meet with communist Gen. Yeh Chien-ying in an effort to negotiate a truce to save the Queen City of north China.

Press reports in Nanking said the delegation included civic and educational leaders and 20 newspapermen.

Fighting was suspended in Peiping's suburbs pending the truce meeting, but in central China other communist armies surged beyond fallen Pengpu in a grave threat to Nanking, Shanghai and the whole fertile Yangtze valley.

Nationalist forces began to retreat across the Yangtze.

Elsewhere on the international front:

RHODES — Israeli - Egyptian talks were bearing fruit. The Israeli agreed unconditionally, according to reports from Tel Aviv, to permit some 2,000 Egyptian troops encircled at Faluja, in the Negev, since last October, to withdraw to Egypt if the Egyptians agree never again to attack Israel.

BUNCHE GAINS

Dr. Ralph Bunche, United Nations acting mediator for Palestine, who was conducting the Rhodes talks, appeared to be making unexpectedly swift progress.

There were indications that, if an Israeli-Egyptian settlement can be reached, other Arab nations which have fought the Israeli will be brought into talks which may result in a settlement of the whole problem of the Holy Land.

LAKE SUCCESS—The United States was mustering votes for a UN security council meeting at which an attempt will be made to pass the American plan for peace in Indonesia. The Dutch object to the United Nations plan, which would provide for gradual withdrawal of Dutch troops from positions seized in the "Christmas blitz," early free Indonesian elections, and ultimate transfer of authority from the Dutch crown to a new United States of Indonesia.

LONDON—The British cabinet met today to plan the labor government's answer to charges, which will be raised with the reconvening of parilament tomorrow, that Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin has bungled the Palestine problem.

FRANKFURT — About 16,000 American troops in Germany, most of them of the famed First Division — "The Big Red One" — began winter maneuvers.

Thinks Police Persecute Him

CLEVELAND —(INS)— Julius A. Petro is beginning to think that Cleveland policemen don't like him.

Petro, who last week was jailed for having burglar tools in his possession, was picked up again yesterday for crashing a red light going 50 miles an hour.

When Patrolmen William H. Schroeder and Joseph H. Sawyer stopped him Petro said: "Are you guys trying to persecute me?"

Petro spent 13 months in "death row" after being convicted of the killing of Theodore "Bobby" Knaus. He won a new trial and was acquitted last year.

OPEN NEW SCHOOL—Here is the new Roseland school building, 1050 Wyandotte avenue, which will open for classroom study for the first time tomorrow morning. At the top is a view of the front entrance and below the handsome lobby facing the entrance.

Roseland School Tops In Equipment

By NITA BRANSON

When 327 pupils enter the new Roseland school Tuesday morning they will see one of the most modern grade schools in the nation.

First of six new elementary schools to be built in the city with funds voted in two bond issues, the Roseland building is complete except for the cafeteria.

Everything in the building is the last word in modernism. Even the bell is regulated by a big clock in the administration office which controls all the electric clocks in the building.

The school is on one floor, spread out over 318 feet, on Wyandotte avenue, near Trimble road. Inside is birch paneling, softly-tinted cement blocks on the upper half of the walls and neutral tile in contrasting shade of tan.

At the entrance of each room, with the exception of the one at either end of the building, are glass blocks, which provide more light in the room and in the hallways.

Adjustable seats in the fourth, fifth and sixth grade room provide convenient and comfortable work areas for the students. The seats are made so that they can be lowered or raised, extended or pushed back into their original pattern.

Every room in the building has clothes closets in the rear, fronted with birch doors and plenty of hangers for garments.

In the first, second and third grades, closets are arranged with hooks along the wall at a level within easy reach of short arms. Also in the rear of these three rooms a part of the closet space has been turned into a toilet and lavatory section. No child in any of these three rooms need go out of the room until recess time or time to go home.

400 Police Guard Trial

NEW YORK — (INS) — America's twelve ranking communist leaders went on trial in New York federal court today on charges of conspiracy to "teach and advocate" the violent overthrow of the United States government.

An unprecedented safety guard of 400 policemen and detectives patrolled the federal building at the start of the court action that may determine the future of the communist movement in the United States.

The huge police guard was greater than any ever established for a single trial in New York city.

In addition to local police on hand, the courtroom and building was under the watchful eyes of an undisclosed number of federal agents. Judge Harold R. Medina presided.

Communist spokesmen have attacked the frequently-postponed trial as "persecution" and party agencies have laid elaborate plans for mass picketing.

30-Foot Fall Injures Man

Tumbles Down Elevator Shaft

A 31-year-old Mansfield man narrowly escaped death Sunday afternoon when he plunged 30 feet down an elevator shaft in the Walpark building.

Victim of the fall, William C. Hettenbaugh, 886 South Linden road, was reported in "fair" condition at General hospital today where he is being treated for a back injury. X-rays are being taken today to determine extent of the injury.

Police were summoned at 2:30 p. m. Sunday to the building and extricated Hettenbaugh through the basement door. They said he was conscious and apparently not seriously injured.

Relatives said Hettenbaugh, an employe of the Stanton-Wallington insurance agency in the building, opened the elevator door, presuming the car was there but darkened, and stepped in.

The fall victim remarked that the other elevator was in use at the time and he had frequently operated the elevator himself on Sundays.

OK Due On Pay Boost

WASHINGTON —(INS)— President Truman will receive a pre-inaugural gift today from congress when the House completes action on a bill granting him $150,000 annual "compensation."

The President now receives $75,000 a year salary and the new legislation, already approved by the Senate, provides for a $25,000 salary increase plus a $50,000 tax-exempt "expense allowance."

House approval seems assured. The Senate bill is expected to be sent to the White House this afternoon without change.

Throngs Head For Inaugural

WASHINGTON — (UP) — The vanguard of an expected half million visitors began streaming into the nation's capital today for what promises to be the biggest and most lavish inaugural in history.

There were big city political bosses and small fry ward heelers, chic socialites and curious housewives, professional entertainers and—police fear—professional pickpockets.

At the height of the rush on Wednesday and Thursday, a train will pull into Union station every two minutes. About 5,000 visitors will have to sleep in Pullman cars on sidings near the Capitol because hotels are sold out. Others will bunk as far away as Philadelphia and Pittsburgh and commute by train or plane for the inaugural festivities.

Climax of the week will be the inauguration ceremony itself at noon Thursday. President Truman will take the oath of office on the steps of the Capitol, then lead the inaugural parade down Pennsylvania avenue to the White House.

Officials estimate that 120,000 persons will watch the swearing-in ceremony from the huge grandstand in front of the Capitol which Washington cab drivers have roguishly nicknamed "Dewey stadium." The Republican Congress appropriated $100,000 for the job when it looked as though Gov. Thomas E. Dewey would be the man with his hand in the air.

Upwards of 1,000,000 persons are expected to line the parade route for the colorful 2½ hour spectacle.

'TOP CRUST' DANCE

Washington society leaders expect to be exhausted by weekend. The two biggest social events will be the inaugural gala and concert Wednesday night, and the ball Thursday night. The President, his wife and daughter and 5,000 top-crust political, social and diplomatic figures will dance at the ball to the music of Guy Lombardo, Benny Goodman and Xavier Cugat.

Ohio's Governor and Mrs. Frank J. Lausche will attend the presidential inauguration in Washington, leaving Columbus Wednesday night or Thursday morning.

Work was completed today on the $1,000 Ohio float for the inaugural parade here Thursday.

Five Ohio girls, four of whom work for the government agencies, will ride on the float. They are Josette, Betty Sue and Carol Williams, sisters of Zanesville; Georgia Miller, Columbus; and Marjorie Miller, Akro

The float will feature the name Ohio in large cut-out letters against a background on the shield of the United States. Below it are the words "Birthplace of Aviation." The line at the base of the float reads, "The Hub State of the Nation."

The front is a silhouette of an airplane on a background outline map of the state.

Warm Winter Costly In Street Repairs

The lack of snow and cold weather is costing Mansfield a lot of money.

While most Ohio cities have reported substantial snow removal savings as a result of the mild winter, the abnormal weather is having the opposite effect here, E. W. Davis, street superintendent, said today.

"We have saved money on salt and labor for snow removal, but our street repair bill is skyrocketing because of the mild weather, with the alternating freezes and thaws," he said.

"Although we have used only half as much salt this year as last, saving the city about $750 plus labor costs, we've had to buy more than 1,000 tons of slag at $1 a ton for repair work."

Davis explained that normally little slag is needed until spring, because a cold winter, with the streets frozen solid keeps repair work at a minimum.

But with the thaws and freezes roads are breaking down, Davis explained, citing extraordinary bills for gravel to keep dirt roads in passable condition.

US-Bound Service Men Die

Plane Falls In Scotland

GLASGOW — (UP) — A U. S. Air Force B-29 Superfortress reportedly carrying 20 American servicemen bound for home crashed and burned in the Argyllshire mountains of western Scotland in thick fog today. All aboard were believed killed.

Five bodies were found some distance from the scattered and burned wreckage of the plane on a 3,000-foot mountainside at Succoth Glen, near Lochgoilhead.

Rescue teams said they could not determine yet whether other bodies still were in the smoking wreckage, but they found no signs of survivors.

The plane was identified definitely as a U. S. Air Force B-29, and there appeared no doubt that it was one which the U. S. Air Force headquarters in London reported was missing on a flight to the United States by way of Iceland with 20 crewmen aboard.

ON WAY HOME

The plane was en route to Iceland on the first leg of a trip to the United States. At least some of the men aboard apparently were en route to furloughs at home.

Flying with a sister ship, the plane encountered heavy mist and fog over Scotland. A plane was heard circling before the crash, which occurred at about 10 a. m., some two hours after the Superforts had left Scampton.

The sister ship turned back to Scampton and landed safely. The other plane had not been reported since the take-off from Scampton at 8 a. m. and there seemed little doubt that it had crashed.

A B-29 carries a normal crew of 11, but can accommodate as many as 22. Air Force personnel going on home leave to the United States frequently fly aboard such planes.

It was presumed that names of those aboard the missing plane would not be released pending notification of kin. That is usual air force procedure.

Seek Double Payroll Tax

Democrats Plan 'Social' Boosts

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The administration was reported reliably today as about ready to ask Congress for almost $8,000,000,000 in payroll taxes next year to finance a vastly expanded social security program that would include government payment of doctor bills.

This would be more than double the $3,250,000,000 now collected annually for the present limited coverage old age and survivors insurance and for unemployment compensation.

Now President Truman is proposing health and disability insurance, and expansion and liberalization of present old age benefits and unemployment compensations.

The administration is expected to ask for a six per cent social security tax—probably 3 per cent to be collected from that part of an employed person's pay up to $4,800 (this would make the maximum pay envelope tax $144 against a present top of $30), and probably a similar 3 per cent from his boss' payroll.

Later, when the health insurance program gets in full swing the tax will become higher—a determination has not been made, but maybe around 4 per cent each against employe and employer.

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Congressional Republicans will oppose a tax increase and vote to cut about $3,000,000,000 from President Truman's big 1950 budget if they follow the leadership of Sen. Robert A. Taft, who stated his economy program last night in a debate with three Senate colleagues.

FCC Browbeatings Bring Call For Shakeup

(EDITOR'S NOTE: A special congressional investigating committee has just handed down a 10,000 word report that finds the Federal Communications commission has usurped judicial and legislative powers, seeks to control radio programs and "browbeats" radio applicants—charges which go even beyond those set forth by The News-Journal last year. This is the first of a series of articles on the report.

Demands for congressional reorganization of the Federal Communications commission are set forth in the report of a select committee of the House of Representatives which has just completed a six-months' investigation of the commission.

The committee also calls for reforms within the commission itself, which the committee charge has usurped legislative powers, exceeded "constitutional limitations," "browbeaten" operators of radio stations and applicants for radio licenses, and assumed to interfere with rights of free speech and to dictate the nature of radio programs.

The report substantiates charges made by The News-Journal last February that the commission was usurping authority of the courts and engaging in illegal and unconstitutional practices.

The committee headed by Rep. Forest A. Harness (R), Indiana, submitted its report last week.

Appointed June 28, it dissolved with ending of the 80th Congress, but urged that the new Congress carry on the investigations.

The report was signed by all five members of the committee. In addition to Harness they are Leonard W. Hall (R), New York; J. Percy Priest (D), Tennessee: Oren Harris (D), Arkansas, and Charles H. Elston (R), Cincinnati.

Atty. Frank T. Bow, Canton, was general counsel for the committee.

The News-Journal in February disclosed that the commission violated the constitutional right of free press by seeking to intimi-

Declares Douglas and Johnston Have Sights Set on Presidency

WILLIAM O. DOUGLAS and Eric Johnston, lawyers with a knack for free, or cheap, publicity, have been arching their necks in preliminary bids for the Democratic nomination for president in 1952. Douglas is a justice of the Supreme Court who discovers that this is not the job he thought it was when he was glad to be appointed for life. He is right.

When he reached the court, membership was a distinguished honor. But the appointments of Roosevelt and Truman, including his own, have brought this bench into disrepute from which a man of sensitivity could want to disassociate himself. That Douglas wants to get off is no matter of qualm or scruple, however. He is well at ease in this moral and philosophical climate and is restless only because he is young, strong, bored, mischievous and ambitions. At this writing, he has a glowing chance of both nomination and election.

Mr. Johnston is a man of petty prominence. He has imitated Wendell Willkie by repeating Democratic platitudes in Republican or other capitalistic areas and proclaiming these to be the new and progressive program.

He could have cribbed them from any left-wing clip sheet. He is at present counsel for the movie industry which has been our most generous employer of communists.

Both Douglas and Johnston have been courting the favor of the union bosses by proposing that professional unioneers be sent abroad to represent us in the embassies.

Douglas made his pass at the goons in a vulgar solicitation at the CIO's national convention in Portland, Ore. Johnston horned the same note in a highly perishable book published strictly for the reviewers.

Both of them thought that the American business and professional man had exhausted his prestige abroad and could not get along with the new gang of predators which are called "labor" governments. It is doubtful that the Europeans include any rascals comparable to the jail-birds in our own great Hall of shame, however, for, in Europe, crime has been a profession by itself. The Parisian apache, never aspired to power in the General Federation of French Workers. They have their Philip Murrays and Deacon Will Greens but no opposite numbers for our Fays and Boves, Umbrella Mike Boyles or Ben Prosses.

There is danger in the fact that Douglas is a cynic of the sordid school of Oliver Wendell Holmes. He showed what a bad man he was when he got down off the Supreme Court to go before an outfit conceived in crime and be born of anarchy, and counselled this gang to become the new government of the United States.

It went without saying that he invited them to elect him president of that new government, with the implicit assurance that he would be their kind of man.

Later, Douglas pretended not to be aware that the American unions formally deny the citizen rights guaranteed by the constitution which he has sworn to uphold. This was dishonest for he is a very well-informed politican and knows, of course, that all union constitutions are but the discipline of the union bosses.

It is unnecessary to deal any further with Johnston in this study. He knows that American unionism is not a labor movement but a corruption, but he is altogether trivial and this is as much publicity as he deserves.

Seltzer-Squirting Comedy Gave Audience a Big Laugh; $1,600

THE TWO-A-DAZE: The Cantor-Jessel unit played the Palace in '31 and ran 14 consecutive weeks. Closing night (as the acts came out for the finale) Cantor squirted seltzer at Jessel. Jessel tore for the wings (where Benny Meroff kept the supply of seltzer for his act) and squirted back.

Burns & Allen, Serge Flash and the other acts on the bill were squirting each other while the audience howled.

The shenanigans ended with the entire company running through the theater squirting seltzer at the cash customers.

Cantor paid $1,600 in (damage suits) to have his little joke.

John Barrymore's agent once took him to one of the biggest doctors because of his fading health. The medico prescribed a lengthy diet but specified it wouldn't work unless Barrymore stopped drinking for two years.

"Don't worry," cheered the doc. "I've never lost a patient yet!"

"Zat so?" said John, leaving. "You've just lost me!"

Mark Hellinger once sent humorous party invitations to Hollywood pals. One invited guest indignantly cornered Barrymore.

"Is that guy kidding?" he beefed. "His invitation specified particularly that I was to bring my own wife!"

"What are you squawking about " said Barrymore. "My invitation says I must bring my own whiskey!"

Former Irgun Commander Beigen (recently in town) told this. The British flogged several members of the Irgun Army, so the Irgunists whipped as many British soldiers in reprisal. They posted signs that read: "If you flog our soldiers, we must flog yours!"

To which some tommy with a sensayuma scribbled on the bottom of the posters: "If you do, don't forget my Sgt. Major!"

Sales Tax Gain Tops Ohio Figure

Richland Receipts Up 13.4 Per Cent

Richland county's sales tax revenue in 1948 showed a gain of 13.4 per cent, considerably above the state-wide average of 11.6 per cent, State Treasurer Don H. Ebright's annual report showed today.

Tax on retail sales in the county reached a record high of $1,709,419 during the year, showing that cash registers were busy. The 1947 total was $1,507,921.

Morrow county collections amounted to $100,234, a 20.9 per cent boost over the previous year. The figure for Ashland county was $490,749, an increase of 13.6 per cent. Collections for Crawford county were $569,046, an increase of 12.3 per cent.

The 1948 figure for Holmes county was $113,346, a 21.7 per cent increase; for Huron county it was $600,270, a 15.7 per cent jump, and for Knox county $843,888, an increase of 14.4 per cent over the 1947 figure.

The total amount collected throughout the state reached record high of $143,909,301. The 1947 total was $129,007,346.

Each of Ohio's 88 counties showed an increase. Noble county headed the list with a gain over last year of 29.9 per cent. Higher prices and the increased production of automobiles and new homes were largely responsible for this trend, Ebright said.

Cuyahoga county was credited with the largest 1948 figure. It collected $27,956,107, and it increased 8.0 per cent over 1947.

Liquor Tips Probe Starts

CLEVELAND —(AP)— State liquor director Oscar Fleckner sent an investigator here today to probe reports that clerks in a downtown state liquor wholesale warehouse accept side payments for distribution of scarce brands of liquor.

"The reports have not been verified, but I consider them to be of sufficient importance to merit an investigation," Fleckner said. "The tips are supposed to range from $5 to $20.

"The reports I get say this situation has been going on for some time, and flourished during the war years when scotch and bourbon whiskies were extremely difficult to buy," he added. "Of course, all that is grapevine and might not be fact."

4 New Trucks Due Any Time

Acting Mansfield Postmaster Curtis L. Ford received good news today in the form of a communication from Walter Myers, fourth assistant postmaster general, informing him that the four new trucks for use by the Mansfield post office will be delivered any day now.

The new one and one-half ton International trucks will replace two Ford trucks, one a 1929 model and the other a 1932 model, and two army trucks which have been in use for several years, Ford said.

Bus Driver Is Philosopher, Too—

Finds Passengers 'Nice People'

By EILEEN DEWHURST

Bus drivers have to be philosophers, students of human nature and possess the patience of a Job, one of the city's veteran drivers believes.

He is H. S. Fisher, familiar to thousands of Mansfielders through his friendly greetings to passengers and his sense of humor. A driver in the city for 12 years, and now on the Glessner and South Main runs, he says most riders are pretty nice people, but there are always a few exceptions.

Fisher has seen a lot of bus riders in those 12 years and a number of amusing incidents.

One of the incidents which occurs almost every day is the case of the harried mother who boards a bus with several children. Each child wants to put the tokens in the box and there is generally a squabble, holding up others who want to get on the bus. Sometimes it even ends with one or more of the children crying lustily, Fisher said.

Then there are the people who don't believe what they read. These are the Mansfielders who ask the driver of a bus, plainly marked "Glessner," "Is this the South Main bus?"

Other "problem children" of bus drivers are riders who insist on standing near the door of a crowded bus after the driver has asked them to move to the rear.

However, Fisher said most people will cooperate with the driver if he asks them in a pleasant way.

'GIVE WHAT THEY GET'

His philosophy is that people for the most part, "give back what they get." So he does his best to treat passengers nicely and he said he's never had any trouble.

There are still some Mansfielders who try to get on or off buses at stops which have been eliminated under the new schedule and who still do not seem to know that the transfer point has been changed.

Bus drivers become pretty good at character reading after a number of years on the job. Fisher says he can size up a person pretty well and he always knows when passengers on the early buses "have had a bad night."

DRIVER H. S. FISHER . . . Friend of thousands.

If bus drivers seem impatient toward the end of the day, Mansfielders should remember that most of them spend more than nine hours a day behind the wheel. And manipulating an unwieldy bus through rush-hour Mansfield traffic is not the easiest job in the world either.

Fisher, who works a split shift, starts at 4:40 a.m. He operates the Glessner bus in the morning and the South Main in the afternoon.

Fisher makes his home with his son at 315 Fifth avenue.

Car Dealers See End of Flush Era

By DOUG CHEVALIER

Mansfield auto dealers have concluded the flush days are about over.

While opinions differ on prospects for the immediate future, dealers are unanimous in their evaluation of the long-range picture. The car-buying public is not as hungry for new automobiles as it was, they say. They compare the present situation with that of a year ago and agree the stampede to get new cars or "new used" cars has passed its peak.

Two reasons are offered for the easing up of the public auto appetite. One is that an increasing number of models on the market and increasing quantities coming from factory to showroom are making the customer more choosy. Another is that the rising price level of new automobiles have dulled the desire of many people for a new car.

The dealers are not worried about a slump in the near future, however. Most of them still have a fat backlog of orders, and don't anticipate seeing their new models waiting on showroom floors for a long time to come.

'48 MODELS AVAILABLE

Some buyers have been finding it easy enough to get new cars during the past month. They find they can get delivery after waiting a month or two or even less. That's happening, dealers say, because those customers are satisfied to get the 1948 models rather than the 1949 models most of which are scheduled to come out next month.

Dealers point out that people who have been on a waiting list a year or two figure they might as well wait for the new models.

Trucks are more rapidly approaching a buyers' market. E. D. Gibson, of Gibson Motor Sales, said he is seeking buyers for one-and-a-half and two-ton trucks. Lighter trucks can be bought after a very short wait.

Gibson, a Studebaker dealer, reported the waiting time on the lower priced models was 18 months, but a new higher priced model could be had within three to four months.

The same situation in truck sales was reported by Colby and Earick.

Concerning the new car situation W. A. Brandenburg, Chevrolet dealer, said:

"We have enough orders to last two years. There's no chance of lessening the waiting time of one to two years unless there is a change in the general economic trend."

R. E. Moorhead, Ford dealer, said he was getting in between 30 and 60 new Fords a month, but he had a huge backlog of orders, and is getting new orders every day.

The Herring Motor company reported new Plymouths were one year behind orders and new Chryslers six months behind. They have stopped taking orders until the new models come out next month.

G. F. Schonauer, Plymouth and DeSoto dealer, said a customer can get a new Plymouth in six months. He said the continuing price rises were discouraging many erstwhile buyers. The flow from factory to salesroom has risen, he said, and he has been getting about 20 new automobiles a month. Orders are still ahead of the product, but the "trend has definitely changed," he said.

A similar situation was reported by the Weidner Pontiac company, which also expects a new model to come out next month.

Wentz Nash Sales and Service indicated the lower priced models required six to eight months of waiting but the higher priced cars can be bought off the floor.

A. B. Grafton, Lincoln and Mercury dealer, said Mercurys could not keep up with the demand and no predictions could be made for the immediate future.

ORDERS BRISK

Ingram and Martin, Oldsmobile dealers, said orders had slumped for a few months last year but since the beginning of 1949 placing of new orders had been brisk. Waiting time is nine months to a year, depending upon the model wanted.

Swisher Cadillac said the waiting period had dropped to one year from a two-year waiting time' last year. About five cars a month are being received. The Auxter Motor company, which sells Packards, reported a similar condition..

Jon S. Bookwalter, of Bookwalter Motor Sales, said people are becoming more choosy about the model and color of Hudsons they want. Occasionally a customer can get a new car on the spot if he is not particular as to body-type and color, he said.

The used-car market was reporting a downward trend in prices, and less turnover on the lots. Dealers were of the opinion that the heyday of the used car trader is over.

$40,758 Tax Total Paid

Two-Day Payment Figure Announced

Real estate tax collections in the first two days totaled $40,758, Charles C. Payne, Richland county treasurer reported today. Saturday morning $11,246 was paid.

The payments are the first of the county's record $2,312,754 real estate tax bill for 1949. One half of the total tax bill, or 1,184,140, will be paid in the first collection period lasting until Feb. 21. Payments can be made until that date without penalty, Payne said.

The other half of the tax bill will be paid during the latter part of the year.

Statements were sent out to 43,000 payers of real property taxes last Thursday. Property owners who do not receive their tax bills should file their addresses at the county treasurer's office, Payne said.

Police Find Stolen Cars

Two parked cars, stolen from the south and west sections of the city Saturday night, were recovered by police a short time later.

A car owned by Camillo Alacca, 425 Emerald avenue, stolen from 378 South Main street at 11:15 p. m. Saturday, was recovered by officers at 1:35 a. m. Sunday on North Diamond just north of East Sixth street.

At 9:25 p. m. Saturday, Robert A. Rub, 50 Sturges avenue, reported his car stolen from Carpenter road. Police found the car at 10:17 p. m. on South Diamond street, near Franklin avenue.

Up and Down the Street . . .

NOT FIRST SNOW—

A Mansfielder is contending that "first in history" snowfall in Needles, Calif., last week. Ralph H. Lowry, 382 West Fourth street, who lived in the Golden State town during the winter of 1909 and 1910, said local residents took pictures of the "phenomenon" of a snowfall then. Lowry said the fall was "thick enough to hold vision to about 50 feet or so. "Some of those pictures," Lowry continued, "were sold in newsstands and other places in the town."

FINDS FOOD PLENTIFUL—

Frank Guerrara, who sings as guest artist with the Mastersingers tonight and tomorrow night, has some interesting things to say about Italy, where he spent the summer with the LaScala opera company of Milan. Food is plentiful, Guerrara said, and the price is comparable to that in the United States. "I asked a waiter why there seemed to be plenty of food and he said, 'It's because we lost the war'." A good meal in the best of restaurants costs $3.50, which is about the price of a meal in one of the best dining places in New York City, Guerrara said. Tonight's concert starts promptly at 8:15 p. m. There are still a few tickets which may be obtained at the box office at John Simpson auditorium, officials said today.

Bedraggled Ohio State Battles Wisconsin

Today's Sport Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK—(UP)—Brother Branch Rickey, the master orator of Montague street, came up today with a new gimmick which is going to be received with varied emotions by baseball men—depending on whether they play or pay.

The Mahatma's newest quiz for recalicrant performers who insist on more scratch is:

"What was your earned base average?"

Some 600 lusty young men will be heading south soon for the major leagues' spring training sessions. Approximately 560 of them are fortunate in that they are working for owners with less facility for double talk. The 40 who labor for the Dodgers had better run and hide.

YOUR AVERAGE ball player can quote his personal baseball figures, batting average, runs batted in, etc., faster than he can describe the curves of Warren Spahn or Lana Turner. From one season to another, they determine the quantity and quality of the meat and potatoes served by the little woman.

So imagine the consternation of those supposedly pennant-bound Dodgers when they enter the sanctum of Rickey for dinero discussions and get that "earned base average" query tossed at them. Not only that, but with the slightest nudge of a push button, the Deacon can summon a poised statistician to lay the figure on the line.

FLATBUSH figure philbert already has compiled for Rickey an "earned base average" list based on the number of total bases, unintentional walks and hit-by-pitcher into the total times at bat. According to Rickey's analysis, the National league average was .455

So now, say you are Marv Rackley, who led the Brooks with a batting average of .327. You sally into the web and discover that you had few extra base hits, a paltry 17 unintentional walks and actually have a subpar "earned base average" of only .443.

Rickey, the rich man's David Harum, can make quite a point of that. The man is an amateur hypnotist, in the first place. Often I have gone into his office determined to get a straight answer. Hours later I wander out, wondering what happened, certain that here is the greatest man since William Jennings Bryan—and without my answer.

LATER YOU get to wondering what you can expect from a man who once advised Dizzy Dean, a cutie but not exactly an Einstein, "Not to abrogate to yourself the prerogatives of the manager."

But the flabbergasted Dean has had plenty of company down through the years. And he's going to have more shortly.

The young Dodger who really is looking for trouble is the lad who waves his R B I. total in front of the Deacon's optics That's one of Rickey's pet peeves. When Dixie Walker led the league in 1945 and sought more moola, Rickey retorted:

"There are too many dependent factors in runs batted in which are out of the control of you hitters. You probably never considered the on-base average of the men ahead of you or their speed."

★

THE ONE FELLOW who has a selling point is Gene Hermanski His was the top "earned base average" on the club last season, a neat 557.

But with the shoe on the other foot, he'll find himself reminded that he only hit 290 in the batting averages. Before he gets outside he'll probably be pleading with the Deacon to give him a cut.

It's been known to happen—even that!

Illini Layoff 2 Weeks In Big 9 Race

MADISON, Wis.—(INS)—A somewhat bedraggled Ohio State basketball squad was to face a triumphant Wisconsin tonight at Madison.

Plagued by injuries and illness, Ohio State went down 53 to 49 Saturday night before Iowa while Wisconsin took a 58 to 48 victory over Indiana.

State's high scoring Dick Schnittker was left behind in an Iowa City hospital with a throat infection which was expected to keep him bedded down until Tuesday noon.

SPRAINS BACK

Moreover, Jim Remington, who took Schnittker's spot Saturday night, strained his back in the rough and tumble game. Ted Jacobs probably will take the Schnittker spot tonight.

Just to make matters complete, the Bucks were forced to leave Sophomore Gene Melzer behind in Columbus on this week's trip with a sprained ankle.

★

CHICAGO—(UP)—A single game for the Big Nine cage championship appeared possible today as two teams, Illinois and Minnesota, were deadlocked for the lead with three victories and no defeats apiece.

The high-scoring Illini headed into a two-week layoff for examinations, while Minnesota faces two league foes this week, Iowa Monday and Indiana Saturday.

LONE CONTEST

But the Gophers were figured to win in both games, even though the Hawkeye clash is at Iowa City, and should they do so, Minnesota would come undefeated to Illinois Jan. 29 for the lone game between the two clubs this season.

Minnesota proved its class with a 67 to 52 win over Purdue at Lafayette Saturday and retained its undefeated record for the season with 11 straight wins.

Illinois, whose only loss was to De Paul in the early season, has captured two Big Nine games on the road, always a difficult feat, from Ohio State and Indiana, and at home will be a toughie for anybody.

TOO MUCH CLASS

The Gophers had far too much class for Purdue Saturday and Jim McIntyre pitched in 20 points to pace the winners. The Gophers' forward also scored in double figures with Meyer Skoog credited with 18 and Bud Grant with 14.

Other Big Nine games this week were Ohio State at Wisconsin and Purdue at Indiana tonight, and Purdue at Ohio and Iowa vs. Northwestern in the Chicago stadium Saturday.

Whisler Won't Play Pro Ball

COLUMBUS—(UP)—Joe Whisler, husky Ohio State fullback, today decided to stake out a future in the mechanical engineering field instead of on the football field.

Whisler, who will be graduated from O S U's Mechanical Engineering school in June, said he wanted "to concentrate on getting a good job in my line and then try to go places."

The Cleveland Browns, champions of the All-America conference, traded the draft rights to Whisler and end Scott Beasley of Nevada to the Brooklyn Dodgers for tackle Joe Spencer Saturday.

Hal LeMunyon, Mansfield anchor man, was tops against Clyde with 183-175-233—591 while Dale Cleckner had 183-178-222—593 against Pioneer. Other leading scorers for Zahn's were Farrell Hipp, 204-177-181—562 and Nick Weber, 202-190-183—575.

Benny Hogan Wins Crosby's Golf Tourney

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif —(UP)—Any fears (or hopes) that little Ben Hogan was fading from his position as king of the golfers can be tossed to the winds today—because Bantam Ben still has the stuff of which champions are made.

Holder of the 1948 PGA and national open title and leading PGA money winner last year, Hogan captured his first crown of 1949 here yesterday as he blanketed the field to win the $10,000 Bing Crosby national amateur singles title.

It was his usual masterpiece—three steady rounds of 68-70-70 over three different courses. The 208 total was two strokes better than the second-place 210 posted by the perennial runner-up Jim Ferrier.

In play here he took home $2.500 in prizes—with $500 of this coming for finishing third in the pro-amateur best ball.

SURPRISING DUO

The pro-amateur crown went to the surprising pair of Bill Nary of Los Angeles and Lefty O'Doul, manager of the San Francisco Seals baseball team, who led from the opening day and finished with a combined best ball of 196.

Behind Hogan and Ferrier in the singles division came popular Jimmy Demaret with a 211 total, good for $1.000, Nary with a 213, good for $700; and at 214, Emory Zimmerman, Portland, and Joe Brown, Des Moines, Ia., each got $450

Some of the veterans of long tournament play found the three-day grind too much. Among these was Byron Nelson, who emerged from retirement for this clam bake, only to pick up on the final day Sam Snead, who finished in a three-way tie for 11th place had his usual tough luck. He took 12 strokes on the last two holes—and then threw his ball into the ocean.

Sandusky Man Shoot Winner

Vern Gregory of Sandusky turned in a neat 48x50 at the Ohio Sportsmens Gun club yesterday to take first place in the trophy shoot.

Earl Craner of Crestline, M. L. Daugherty of Marion, and George Cottrell of Lakeview tied for second place, just one target behind, each with 47x50.

Five shooters turned in 46x50 scores for third place. These were Dr. Paul Lee of Lucas, Chet Beer of Mansfield, W. Hagenmaier of Upper Sandusky, H. C. James of Fredericksburg, and Dale Beele of Monroeville.

Ronnie Frey, the 12-year-old Lexington youth, broke 39 out of 50.

Next match to be held at the club will be a registered shoot Feb 13.

Akron Court Crew's Tops Around Ohio

By FRITZ HOWELL
Ohio AP Sports Editor

COLUMBUS—Akron's Zippers, with 10 straight conquests for Ohio's only clear collegiate cage record, bump into their toughest tests this week.

The rubber city crew tangles tonight with Duquesne on the latter's court, and the Dukes have won nine of 10 starts against some pretty fair opposition. Friday night the Zippers entertain Kent State, winner of eight of 12 starts.

If Akron gets by that pair of stalwarts, the Zippers will be tough to push out of the top spot in the late going. In banging to the peak the Akrons have sidetracked Hillsdale, St. Francis, Wayne, Ohio U., Albion, Colby, Texas A. & M., Youngstown, John Carroll and Fen in a row.

The two Akron outings will headline this week's 39-game program involving Ohio's college squads. Ten Ohio conference games, two in the mid-American and 16 against out-of-state opponents dot the card.

Last week's flurry against foreign foes was disastrous for the Buckeye teams, which won seven and lost 21 to out-of-staters. The Ohioans held on to a record of 75 victories against 67 losses for the campaign, however, against the foreigners.

Butler's Bulldogs created the most havoc last week. The Indianapolis team batted Miami's redskins off the top of the mid-American conference Tuesday with a 59-38 verdict, and then handed Cincinnati's Bearcats their first loss of the season, 74-52, Saturday night. That left the Bulldogs perched all alone at the top of the snug little circuit.

Wilberforce and Capital joined Cincinnati in the defeated class, to put Akron on top as the state's only unbeaten squad. Wilberforce bowed to Kentucky State 62-51, while Capital ran into a 100-99 setback at the hands of Marietta in five (count 'em) overtime periods..

Other games this week:
MONDAY—Bliss at Rio Grande
TUESDAY—Miami at Cincinnati, Kenyon at Otterbein, Wittenberg at Denison, Kent State at Muskingum, Wilberforce State at Wilmington Findlay at Ohio Northern, Oberlin at Hiram, and Wooster at Ashland
WEDNESDAY—Ohio Wesleyan at Capital, Texas Wesleyan at Cincinnati, John Carroll at Youngstown.
THURSDAY—Baldwin-Wallace at Toledo, Mt Union at Muskingum, Ashland at Heidelberg
FRIDAY—Otterbein at Wilmington, Dayton at Ohio U., John Carroll at Lawrence Tech, Kent State at Akron, Tennessee State at Wilberforce U., Rio Grande at Kent State Canton Branch.

This Is the Week For Pro Grid Peace

By CHARLES EINSTEIN

CHICAGO—(INS)—Peace is supposed to make a grand entrance into the field of professional football in Chicago this week, and thus, today, boxing gloves and other assorted weapons were at a new premium.

The All-America conference will meet in secret tomorrow, and the National Football league will meet in secret Wednesday. Although both leagues claim no definite rendezvous has been arranged, members of both leagues will be meeting in secret all through the week.

As a matter of fact, a representative selection of responsible club owners hit Chicago today, and undoubtedly began meeting in secret.

Majority opinion insisted that by the time people start making their confessions, the All-America conference will be no more; that its Chicago, Brooklyn, Buffalo, Baltimore, New York and Los Angeles franchises will have been discarded and that the Cleveland and San Francisco teams will have been absorbed by the National league.

ALTERS PICTURE

As for those All-America conference clubs, however, all you have to do is ask the man who owns one, and the picture becomes altered somewhat. The AAC will gladly substitute the Chicago Cardinals of the National league for its own moribund Chicago Rockets, and will gladly change the NFL's Boston Yanks into a substitute for its own New York Yanks.

Beyond that, the All-America, despite the admittedly shaky status of its Brooklyn Dodgers, says it is not prepared to yield. For one thing, the AAC boys have no compelling desire to lose their identity as a league. They are convinced that the future of pro football lies in a two-league setup similar to that of baseball, as indeed some National league clubowners are convinced.

NFL BALKED

That, to be sure, was what was to have been discussed at the first peace meeting between the two circuits, in Philadelphia last month. That such discussion did not transpire is to the everlasting credit, if you want to call it that, of a handful of NFL clubowners.

Latest reports now state that Ben Lindheimer, owner of the AAC Los Angeles Dons, and Dan Reeves and Ed Pauley, who own the NFL Rams in the same city, have conferred on a merger.

Although the team would remain the Rams by name, the reports add, it would be Lindheimer's by right of majority purchase. That makes some sense, at least, because Mr. Lindheimer, when last heard from, was determined to stay in Los Angeles, where his Dons had outdrawn the Rams.

Billiken Five Battles Jinx Club Thursday

NEW YORK—(UP)—Still shuddering from their close escape against Drake, the speedy Billikens of St. Louis University found their record of 11 straight victories in great peril today as they headed for a meeting with their "Jinx" team.

The Bills are rated the mightiest of the six teams left on the list of unbeaten major basketball teams, but their Thursday night game against the Oklahoma Aggies puts them in the greatest danger of an upset.

GOAL-PROOF AGGIES

It was the Aggies, famed for their air-proof, water-proof, goal-proof defense, who handed the Billikens two defeats in as many games last year when St. Louis was riding just as high as it is this season.

St. Louis fans hope their team hasn't suddenly gone "sour," and wonder if the Bills' 52-51 squeaker win over Drake on last Saturday night forecasts more trouble this week. The Bills had to stall desperately for the final minute to pull that one out of the fire.

The Aggies will come into the fray with a nine won, two lost record, the defeats by De Paul and St. Joseph's.

Of the five other unbeaten teams, only Villanova (11-0) is a cinch to survive until next Sunday—the Wildcats are unscheduled this week.

Mansfield Club Granted 2 Dates

COLUMBUS — The Mansfield Motorcycle club was granted two racing dates for 1949 in the annual Ohio sanction meeting of the American Motorcycle association here yesterday.

The Mansfield club will stage Tourist Trophy races June 5 and Sept. 11. A drive has been started by AMA member clubs to have all motor "bikes" equipped with legal mufflers. This would outlaw bazookes, straight pipes and cutouts.

Baseball Fans View Films of World Series

Mansfield baseball fans yesterday got their initial "look" at the official movies of the 1948 World Series between the Cleveland Indians and the Boston Braves.

Three showings of the series film and the "Double Play Kings of Baseball" were staged at the Sons of Herman hall. The program was sponsored by the Herman Horse club and was for Hot Stove league junior baseballers and members of the Hot Stove loop and Sons of Herman.

The initial meeting of the Mansfield Hot Stove chapter has been scheduled for Thursday at 7:30 p. m. in the city building. Fred Tharp is president of the local organization, Luther McCally is vice-president and Stan Kamen, secretary-treasurer.

Bill Eccles, who played football at Senior high as a soph and junior, goes against Jack Seckinger, Marion Golden Gloves champ, in the semi-final go. Eccles lost in the F-H ring finals to Tom Weaver, Tyger tackle. He fought in the heavyweight division last year but is a welter now. Eccles has won 9 of 11.

One other F-H champ, Howard Carney, is on the card while Gene Ayers reached the finals last year.

Boxers from Mansfield, Marion and Galion are competing on the card.

An exhibition between Bruce Heinberger and Cecil Wright, both of the F-H, will open the card at 8:15 p. m. They weigh 116 pounds.

STILL SOME SEATS

Mike Wentz, Friendly House athletic director, announced this morning that there are still some good seats available. They will go on sale at 7 p. m. today.

Another of the well-liked battle royals has been booked by Wentz. Bob Pittinger, Bud Kent, John McQuillon, Del Wright, Cecil Thompson and Joe Morganstern will meet in the clever feature.

Buddy Baer Case Is Before Judge For $150,000

FREEHOLD, N. J. — (U.P.) — Superior Court Judge Thomas Brown today was scheduled to hear the case of former heavyweight contender Buddy Baer, who is seeking $150,000 in damages because of injuries suffered in an automobile accident seven years ago.

Buddy, younger brother of Max Baer, one-time heavyweight champion, is suing Wilma Wilkins of Little Silver, N. J., for injuries allegedly suffered in a collision between the Wilkins' car and an automobile in which Buddy was a passenger.

The accident occurred at Eatontown, N. J., on Dec. 24, 1941, and the suit was filed in 1942.

Buddy, who lost two fights to Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis, said in his suit that he suffered such severe injuries to his shoulders, back and neck during the accident that he was forced to retire from the ring and has required intermittent treatment since then.

Meade Is Refused License Renewal

MEXICO CITY, Mex. — (U.P.) — Another in a string of attempts by once-famed Don Meade to regain his jockey's license was ended today in failure with a rejection by the Mexican National Racing commission.

Meade, who was set down here on March 11, 1945, for "ungentlemanly conduct," had asked the commission to reconsider his suspension. But, in a ruling announced last night, the commission maintained his lifetime suspension chiefly because of Meade's "many unfulfilled promises to reform."

The champion came through with a five-round technical knockout here last night over young Finnegan, a capable Panama fighter, who opened a gash over Saddler's right eye and succeeded in taking a couple of rounds from the champ before going under.

Junior President Names Committees For Prom

By ANN DIDICHER

Only one week left until the first semester is over—the time certainly flies!

Russell Glenn, junior class president, announced committees for the Prom. They include: class flower, Joyce Elliott, Bruce Armstrong and Ann Dyson; place, Paul Cashell, Ed Locke, and Beverly Hunt; class motto, Norman Hughes, Ann Didicher and Connie Smith; orchestra, Mary Jo Hunter, Gene Aungst and Tommy Ciraulo; class colors, Dave Davies, Eloise Scheier and Norman Walker.

The Junior class has been working extra hard to raise enough money for a good Prom. we would like to thank Miss Wiseman, class adviser, for all her cooperation.

Last Tuesday night when our reserves and varsity traveled to New London they played outstanding games and came home victorious, defeating New London reserves 23-17, while the varsity set the score 55-37. This Tuesday we play Fredericktown there, and in Kenton on Friday.

Last week the fifth period Physics class was given a test by Chester Ramsey at the close of which chocolate cake was served by Ann Dyson. It seems Ann took a cupcake to Larry Secrist, but it was too small to be divided among the class, so this week she brought a whole cake.

The Juniors are selling class pins with the letters "M.H.S" stamped in either gold or green and white, with the connecting guards bearing the graduation year.

A bus load of students attended the New London game last Tuesday with everyone having a good time.

Why is it the weatherman hasn't given us more ice on which to try our new Christmas skates?

Those who could pull themselves away from cramming for the six-week tests were in the auditorium watching the noon show, "High School," starring Jane Withers.

It seems there is no end to those bright red ties and socks that Coach Dowler wears. They're very pretty, Coach.

Most Legislatures Face Drive For Higher State Employe Pay

(By Associated Press)

Moves for more money for people on the public payrolls are under way in the states as well as in Washington.

Legislatures in most of the states will hear requests for bigger checks—but none that would match the $25,000 checks asked for federal cabinet officers.

The state raises, if granted, would boost the income of a few governors and a number of other top job holders. But the bulk of the added cash would go to the rank and file—including clerks, teachers, prison guards and, in some instances, sheriffs and other county officials.

The new governor of Illinois, Adlai Stevenson, has said higher salaries are needed to attract first class men to key posts. He has talked about asking more pay for department directors who now get $8,000 a year. It seems probable that all Illinois state workers will get a raise of at least ten per cent.

State officials in Nevada want more money for themselves and their hired hands. They claim their offices are swamped with work because they can't get help at the going rates.

Salary increases for elected officers are on the agenda of the legislature in Oklahoma. Many of the current pay scales have been in effect since the state joined the union in 1907. The governor gets $6,500 a year and the commissioner of charities only $2,500.

Bills are expected to be filed in Tennessee and Wyoming to lift their governors from the $8,000 to the $12,000 bracket. The earnings of other top officials would be increased from $6,600 to $10,000 in Tennessee, and from $4,000 to $8,500 in Wyoming.

The subject of payraises or cost-of-living bonuses has come up in 24 other states. In most of them the hikes would benefit some or all the workers in the lower echelons.

French, British Hail 'Get-Together' Move

By JOSEPH E. DYNAN

PARIS—(AP)—France and Britain are growing closer and closer together in a wide range of fields—political, military, economic and cultural.

So reported the British embassy here in a survey of Anglo-Franco cooperation made just prior to French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman's official visit to London this week.

France is making nets to harvest the brussels sprouts so dear to an Englishman's menu, and is refining oil in the surplus French refining capacity for British trucks and cars. Britain is training French aviators and building new merchant ships for the war-devastated French high seas fleet.

The survey omitted the long smoldering and highly controversial projects for a tunnel under the channel for rail and vehicular traffic and for a consultative parliament named by the respective national parliaments. The English have not displayed much enthusiasm for these ideas up to now.

The present phase of Anglo-Franco cooperation dates from the treaty of Dunkerque signed by British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault March 4, 1947 amid the ruins of the war-blasted port. This policy has been continued and extended by Schuman, Bidault's successor.

The policy has been carried on into the five-power treaty signed by the two countries with Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg at Brussels March 17, 1948, and within the European organization for Economic Cooperation—known as the OEEC—formed by the nations participating in the American European Recovery program.

Part of it has included official visits by ranking statesmen of the two nations. Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh were guests of Paris last spring. Shortly afterward, Gaston Monnerville, president of the Council of the Republic, upper house of the French parliament, visited London. Edouard Herriot, president of the French National assembly, already had visited the British capital.

British and French non-commissioned officers and enlisted men are being traded into each other's army to show the down-to-earth soldiers how things are done on the other side of the channel.

British training teams instructed French infantry divisions en route to Indo-China on handling airborne equipment furnished by Britain. Britain already had furnished basic equipment for three infantry divisions bound for Indo-China, more than 1,000 planes to the French air force and had loaned a 14,000-ton carrier to the French navy.

Giants Sign Trio To 1949 Contracts

NEW YORK — (AP) — Three more players, all pitchers, returned their signed contracts to the New York Giants' headquarters yesterday to swell the total of the satisfied to 15.

Of the trio, only Ray Poat, a 31-year-old fast baller from Chicago, was a Giant regular last season. The others, righthanders Bill Ayres and Sam (Red) Webb, are classed as rookies, although each has been up before.

Smith to Speak At Softball Fete

WILLARD — On Jan. 19 Fred Smith of Elyria, Sixth Ohio District softball commissioner, will be the guest speaker at a meeting to be held in Willard's Elks Hall, when plans are expected to be made for holding the annual softball tournament.

Omar Hosler of Willard, Huron county commissioner, is arranging the event in honor of last year's Elks team, host to the county tourney.

15—Male Help Wanted

MEN

I could never begin to put in writing the real meaning of this opportunity. It is difficult to write an ad that will attract attention of good men due to the fact that so many advertisements appear in the paper. Our business is wonderful and getting better every day. Our men are happy in their work making from $100 to $200 per week. I could list 30 names but it would only take up a lot of space. It doesn't matter what kind of work you have been following, if you are out of a job or searching for something better than you now have, and if you have a car, then there is a lifetime opportunity that I will prove to you pays more money on our liberal dealer discount set-up than any other proposition in the country. Our deal is brand new; an entirely new invention in the electrical appliance field that is amazingly different. Apply Tuesday, Jan. 18th at 10:30 a. m. No other time. 282-284 N. Walnut. Room 202. Come prepared to remain balance of day if selected. Out of town men write.

Variety Offered In New Books

Library Gets Six Volumes For Kiddies

(By Library Staff Member)

"Noises and Mr. Flibberty-Jib," by Mary Reed, is one of six new juvenile books which are available at the Mansfield Public library today.

The book tells the story of a man who had a rumble in his head and how he moved to the country to escape the city noises. Mrs. Flibberty-Jib said the rumble was caused because Mr. Flibberty-Jib didn't eat roast beef and wear his mittens. Mr. Flibberty-Jib blamed it on the city noises.

Jimmy is a little boy. Polly is his little sister. The book FIX IT, PLEASE, by Lucy Mitchell, tells about them and all the things that needed fixing. Sometimes Mother fixed things, sometimes Father fixed them. One day when Jimmy and Polly were sick Mother could not fix them. Father could not fix them. Mother called the doctor and he fixed them. Jimmy said that when he grew up he would be a fix-it man. Polly said she would be a fix-it mommy. See what you think after you read the book.

Fairy tales are always interesting. Grimm's fairy tales are especially good. So a new book of Grimm's fairy tales, with pictures by Wanda Gag is an event. This is called MORE TALES FROM GRIMM and has 32 stories in it. Some of these stories, like "Star Dollars", and "Presents of the Little Folk" are not very well known. Others are the old favorites. Each and every one is a treat, and the whole book is one that no one should miss.

Boys are always interested in heroes and explorers. One of the heroes of our country about whom we have few books is Davy Crockett. Sanford Tousey has written a book about him that is sure to be very popular. DAVY CROCKETT lived in the West when it was new, when Indians were a danger to the settlers. From the time he was a small boy Davy knew danger and adventure and had to learn to shoot fast and straight, never to give up, to live on a little food for a long time.

As a man Davy fought the Mexicans to get Texas for the United States. In this book is the exciting story of the fight for the Alamo and Davy's heroic death. This is almost the perfect book for fifth and sixth grade boys.

Maud Hart Lovelace some years ago wrote "Betsy-Tacy", the story of two small girls of old-fashioned days. Readers liked Betsy and Tacy, and Tib, too, when she appeared in the books. Miss Lovelace went on writing more and more about Betsy as she grew older, and entered high school. Betsy is definitely one of the most popular people in our book collection

FINAL BETSY BOOK

Now has come the latest and last book. Betsy will not appear, it has been announced, after BETSY AND JOE, the story of Betsy's senior year in school. Betsy is in the essay contest again, and this time gets two bids to the New Year's dance. She has many activities and friends, and especially Joe. In the earlier books Joe was just one of the boys, and perhaps not the one all readers wanted to be the "special" boy. But that's the way it happened, and as you read you'll probably decide it was right.

During the days of the Civil war, when the Army was called east to fight the South, many western forts were left unprotected. In order to stand between the white settler and the Indians it was necessary to call on volunteers, woodsmen and the like. One of those people who stepped into the breach and fought to keep the western roads open and the people safe was Joe, "half jack rabbit and half boy".

FAR DISTANT BUGLE by Loring MacKaye is the story of Joe, of Dick Praisewater, the "Army brat", of Northerners and Southerners and confused loyalties, of spies and treachery, of fighting and living and dying. It is full of suspense and excitement, and reveals, as well, some facts about a period of our history many of us know little about.

SHOT BY BOY

WELLSVILLE.—(AP)— Harry Billingsley, 20, told police yesterday a 12-year-old companion accidentally shot him in the back while they hunted coon before daybreak.

A .22 caliber rifle bullet entered Billingsley's back below his heart. He was reported in "fair condition" at an East Liverpool hospital.

FIRST OF ITS KIND—The new Roseland school gymnasium-auditorium, shown at the top, is the first of its kind in an elementary school in Ohio, according to the architect. It seats 456 and is of the Greek theater type. Below is a view of the adjustable seats to be used in the fourth, fifth and sixth grade rooms. Insert it Raymond Dent, principal, at his desk.

'Stunts' By Youth Groups To Feature Chest Meeting

Individual "stunts" by each of the five youth organizations of the Community Chest will feature the 28th annual meeting to be held next Monday at the Park Avenue Baptist church.

The agencies include YMCA, YWCA, Friendly House, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts. Indicative of the "stunts" is the one planned by the Friendly House officials.

It will consist of a "choric" reading by 15 boys and girls of the settlement house with R. H. Sotherland, Mansfield poet as interpolator. The poem, "Let Me Live In a House By the Side of the Road," has been chosen for the reading. The stunt will be staged by Harold C. McCuen.

The other organizations of the Community Chest association will present individual reports by each of the presidents.

Although the Community Chest has held annual public meetings for the past 27 years, this will be the first dinner meeting. Dinner will be served at the church at 7:15 p. m. All contributing members of the association are eligible to attend the dinner. It is expected that between 150 and 200 will be present to hear of the association's work during the past year.

In addition to brief annual reports from each of the participating Red Feather agencies, there will be election of 40 trustees and the executive committee. Proposed constitution changes will be submitted for discussion and adoption. W. E. Slabaugh, president of the association, will preside.

The dinner committee will include Mrs. J. M. Ingraham, Mrs. J. O. Hanley and Mrs. Robert Stevens, members of the Dental Clinic board of the chest, and Mrs. D. C. Cole, of the Amoma class of the Park Avenue Baptist church, who will have charge of serving.

Farm Bureau Appoints Wieting Vice President

COLUMBUS—C. Maurice Weiting, Ohio Farm Bureau director of information and education, has been named vice president and director of organization, according to John W. Sims, executive secretary of the state's largest farm organization.

The action taken by the board of trustees filled a vacancy created last July when Harry W. Culbreth became director of policyholder relations for the Farm Bureau insurance companies.

Little Farm Income Goes For Fertilizer

COLUMBUS — Less than three cents out of every dollar of cash farm income in Ohio during 1947 went for the purchase of fertilizer, Robert Garn, fertilizer division head of the Farm Bureau Cooperative association, reported today.

Pointing out that fertilizer prices have remained relatively low, Garn predicted that mixed plant foods would continue to be a "good buy" during 1949. He attributed the recent price advances "mostly as a result of increased freight rates."

Violence Flares Again In African Race Disturbance

2,000 Armed Men Guard Durban Area

Tension Mounting In Transvaal

DURBAN, South Africa — (INS) — Violence flared in several South African cities today in the wake of Durban's three-day riot between Africans and Negroes which left hundreds dead.

The death toll is expected to mount higher after Durban's rubble-strewn and fire-gutted streets have been cleared.

Most Africans returned to work today and some Indians went back to their wrecked homes.

Two thousand heavily armed police and troops patrolled the streets of the South African port, which suffered extensive damage when Zulu natives ran amok over the week-end and attacked the Indian minority.

Durban took on a war-time aspect as military personnel equipped with sten guns, tear-gas bombs and armored cars massed to prevent a recurrence of the bloody fighting.

An Indian shop was reported wrecked in Johannesburg by a bomb tossed from a speeding car, while other clashes were reported from the capital of natal province Pietermaritzburg.

The white population in Pinetown was said to have barricaded itself after Zulus cut telephone lines. Thus far the rioting has not affected South Africa's white residents. Only one European—a policeman—was reported slain.

Four natives were said to have been killed in Camperdown, when troops fired on a mob. Groups of Indians were said to be roaming the streets in Camperdown, seeking revenge.

In the Transvaal, 200 miles northwest of Durban, there were indications of mounting tension. The white population was said to be rushing to buy firearms and shops were reported rationing ammunition. Transvaal contains South Africa's famed gold mining districts.

Flames Hit City Hall

The engine ran but the wheels never moved when Central station firemen answered an alarm in the city building this morning

About 7:45 a. m. police noticed smoke billowing through the ground-level departments. The source—a bonfire in the janitor's closet between the identification bureau and the traffic commissioner's office—was quickly found. Officers applied a hand extinguisher which failed to have any effect.

By that time the firemen "next door" had heard of it. Starting the booster pump on one of the engines, firemen threaded the hose through the garage and down the hall The fire was extinguished in a moment

Firemen said they believed a cigaret ignited a paper carton filled with trash. Damage was confined to a few cleaning supplies kept in the closet, but the smoke rolled out of hastily opened windows for several minutes.

FCC Browbeatings Bring Call For Reorganization of Board

date newspaper radio license applicants and newspapers with radio licenses which come up for periodic renewal. Newspapers that publish things not in accord with views of the commission were refused radio licenses, or if they already had licenses faced the danger of their revocation.

Here is what the congressional committee found indicating that the commission has taken steps "toward government control of radio:

"Each broadcaster knows that in three years or less he must apply for a renewal of his station license. If he displeases the powers that be in FCC, his very livelihood and ownership of the station are in jeopardy. A temporary renewal 'pending investigation and examination' can cause the station owner to lose many valuable clients. A flat refusal to renew can cause bankruptcy.

"The owners are therefore beaten into line and are reduced to superficial subserviency to the FCC. In a ny event, the broadcasters who want to remain in their field must always be on the alert to interpret correctly, and to the last dot, every word, gesture, opinion and obiter dicta of the FCC, else they will be forced off the air."

As for the "powers-that-be" on the FCC, the committee indicates they are the lawyers on the staff as much as the commissioners.

It found there were 65 lawyers on the staff, about one attorney for every 14 employes on the rolls of the commission.

"We found," said the report, "that the legal division of the FCC almost invariably writes an opinion for the commission without previous consultation with the various commissioners."

The report adds that in "the opinion of your committee, the Congress did not intend that lawyers of this quasi judicial agency would undertake to write decisions before consultation with the commission to get its views."

The News-Journal almost a year ago, also contended the FCC was seeking to exercise "self-generated authority that is dictatorial, arbitrary, illegal and capricious."

The committee expresses it this way:

"The commission offers an example of the dangers of merging the legislative, executive and judicial branches of our government, contrary to the American concept of government, in administrative agencies. It offers an example of the usurpation of the judicial power in that policies of the commission which actually regulate broadcasters are not appealable to the courts, and the commission, by the simple expedient of deciding cases upon grounds other than those which permit appeal, can prevent their policies from being reviewed.

"Likewise it offers an example of the usurpation of the legislative powers by the interpretation of the Communications Act through dicta, policies, press releases, etc., which legislate far beyond the wildest dream of Congress."

Tomorrow: The FCC Blue Book, "a deliberate step toward government control of radio."

It consists of inspectors and enforcement boards which will see to it that Germany does not rearm in the military, industrial or scientific fields.

New School One of Best In State

Roseland Building To Open Tuesday

LIKE AMPHITHEATER

"Our gymnasium is the thing you want to see," Raymond Dent, principal, said while conducting a tour of the building. "Herbert Jones, the architect, says it is the only one of its kind in any elementary school in Ohio. We think it's pretty grand."

Planned in Greek amphitheater fashion, 456 seats slope to the ceiling from the floor, and look down on an arena that may be turned either into a gymnasium or curtain for a stage. It is a huge room, 40 by 80, with 16 lights of 500 watts each and a tray of 17 fluorescent lights of 80 watts each on the ceiling over the curtain. Placed in the ceiling over the tiers of seats are two big "spots," each containing two outside lights of 300 watts and a center light of 150 watts.

All floors in the building are tan tile and all walls on the north side are a soft yellow and on the south a pastel green.

In addition to 12 classrooms, there is the administration office, Dent's office, where his "pride and joy," the inter-communication system is installed; the library with its walls lined with adjustable shelves, various cupboards, janitor rooms, the book shop with its half door where students may obtain needed volumes, and a nurse's room.

Then there is the teachers' rest room. Miss Gloria Beveridge, physical education teacher, and Mrs. Helen Huber, teacher, brought in a maple stand, which Dent described as "fine" and which will be added to the comfortable chairs.

Along each window spread is a long work bench and at the end a work desk, with electric outlet, for conducting experiments. Pupils may stand at the big windows and work and rest their eyes with the wide vista of landscape outside.

A second innovation identifies each room. Instead of the usual door plates, decal letters are placed on the side of the wall next to the door entrance.

"When the cafeteria is finished next week it will seat about 100 pupils." Dent said. "Mrs. Irene Brown, trained by Mrs. Frances Hypes of Senior high school, will have charge."

Floyd Miles is custodian of the school and Mrs. Mary Ross, the janitress.

Miles is almost as enthusiastic as Dent about the new building. He was busy Saturday getting everything into tip-top shape for the opening tomorrow. Workmen were busy waxing floors and the few last-minute details completed.

Donors Fall Below Quota

When the Bloodmobile arrived at the chapter house here from Columbus this morning, only 50 had signed up for today and a smaller number for tomorrow.

A number of things were blamed by Mrs. Stuart Weaver, blood donor chairman, for the failure of area residents to answer the call for life-giving blood.

"It was a combination of things that couldn't be helped," Mrs. Weaver said. "However, we know now where we failed and the next time the Bloodmobile comes we expect to have our quota. We'll all have to work a little harder and everyone in the community will have to remember that it's a 'community project and get behind the program."

Dr. Elizabeth Lande, Columbus doctor who accompanied the Bloodmobile, said that Delaware had given 110 pints the first day. However, she was not too discouraged about this community.

"It takes some time to get things started. I'm sure Mansfield and Richland county will come through," she declared.

Seeks Clamp On Permits

COLUMBUS — (U.P.) — A measure designed to halt the issuance of liquor permits for a period following each Ohio general election is expected to be submitted to the state legislature soon.

Sen. William M. Boyd, D., Cuyahoga, said he planned to introduce a bill that would hold up issuance of permits from two days before the November voting each biennium until the inauguration of the incoming administration in January.

Boyd said he saw no other way to "stem the flood of permits that develops in the closing days of almost every governor's term, particularly when the governor is going out of office."

Faulty vision in one eye is often a factor in automobile accidents, a study of California drivers showed.

City to See Copies of Documents

Bank to Show Reproductions

Thousands of Mansfielders who were disappointed by the news that the Freedom Train, carrying the country's vital documents to all parts of the United States, would not make a stop in Mansfield, will be interested to learn that an exhibition is being planned of reproductions of the documents at the Richland Trust company.

"Americanism" will be the keynote of the year-round exhibition, according to C. N. Sutton, executive vice president of the Richland Trust company, with the entire sponsored series to consist of 26 reproduced documents, each of which will remain on display for a period of two weeks. The records then will be distributed to the high schools of the city to aid in the study of American history.

The display opened today, with the first reproduction to be "Jefferson's Rough Draft of the Declaration of Independence," to be followed on Feb. 1 by "President Lincoln Delivers a Brief Address at Gettysburg, 1863."

The first reproduction will present one of the most precious state papers in all history, written in Jefferson's hand, and containing changes and additions by Adams and Franklin in their own handwriting. It contains the notable statement, one of history's most famous quotes, "Of the people, by the people and for the people."

CITES OBLIGATION

"Every American, whether he is banker, merchant, factory-worker, or professional man, has an obligation to re-kindle the spirit of Americanism," Sutton said in discussing plans for the exhibit.

"The intense interest for the 'Freedom Train' indicates the desire of Americans to view important documents of our American heritage. Unfortunately, too few persons were able to experience the privilege of seeing the original documents, particularly since the Train did not stop in Mansfield.

"Therefore our organization has arranged to bring the most important and interesting documents to this city and make them available to the public in the lobby of our bank," he explained.

Both adults and children are being encouraged to view the documents and the attendant historical material and discuss them and their relationship to the duties of American citizen, according to officials of the bank.

MINSTREL POSTPONED

ASHLAND — Ashland Lions club, which was to have presented a minstrel show Feb. 14-15 at the McDowell auditorium, announced postponement of the show until Feb. 7-8.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

It must be disappointing in Hollywood to have plain white snow instead of in technicolor.

The market is very sensitive to weather changes—as note the hike in citrus fruit prices in preparation for a later shortage because of California's cold wave.

One motor car manufacturer contends that some people can't afford $100-a-month payments on a new car, to which one prospect replies: "It's not that we can't afford them; it's just a strange preference for food."

Inauguration To Be Lavish Affair

AN EXHIBITION of extravagant spending will be witnessed in Washington this week when the Democrats go all out in carrying through the most magnificent inauguration ceremonies ever planned for a President of the United States.

Inez Robb's "Assignment America" column, elsewhere on this page, gives an idea of the splendor which is to mark various phases of the event, with the climax coming on Thursday, which is the day of actual inauguration of Harry S. Truman for the four-year term as President, to which he was elected last November.

Early this week Congress will take final action in making a substantial increase in the President's salary and expense allowance, a move which is regarded with quite general favor but which evidences a trend toward the higher costs of government operation that can scarcely fail to have a frightening effect on taxpayers who must pay the bills.

Objection is being raised to the tax-free expense allowance to the President, rather than giving him a larger salary boost, with the entire amount subject to income tax, the same as other officials. Fear is expressed that this subterfuge will result in similar loopholes being provided for other employes of government or private enterprise.

Considering the tremendous burden already resting on taxpayers, the thought will come to many people that an example of economy coming out of Washington at this time would serve as a considerable morale builder—but instead the exhibition is one of prodigious spending.

And, believe it or not, the week starting today is proclaimed as "National Thrift Week!"

More Seek Income Tax Exemption

AN INTRIGUING PROPOSAL is being made by the CIO in the matter of readjusting income taxes—one which, if left to a vote, would probably carry.

The proposal, as prepared by Stanley H. Ruttenberg, director of the CIO's education and research department, would free from income tax payment all workers with a family of four who earn less than $4,200 a year—which approximates $80 a week.

It is estimated that this would relieve about twenty million families from paying any federal tax on their earnings, and would thus "stimulate their purchasing power" and, consequently, "promote full employment."

It is figured that this would cut off an approximate total of $6,500,000,000 in federal taxes, in addition to which the CIO program would abolish excise taxes on liquor, fur coats, cosmetics, cigarets and gasoline, thus knocking off another $1,300,000,000.

These losses in federal revenues would be offset, according to the CIO proposal, by increasing corporation profit taxes, boosting capital gains taxes, removing exemptions on certain securities and assessing higher taxes on estates and gifts—with suggested renewal of excess profits tax thrown in for good measure.

While these ideas indicate a considerable change from earlier thinking that all should share, in accordance with their ability, in contributing to the cost of maintaining their government, it is recognized as a trend toward recent encouragement of tremendous government expenditures on the theory that someone else was paying the bills.

Just why $4,200 was chosen as the figure below which workers were to be relieved of income tax payment is not clear, unless $80 a week has come to be regarded as a subsistence level for a family of four—with anything under that amount entitling the recipient to government aid.

At least a few may contend that $5,200 a year should be the line of demarcation between income tax payers and non-payers, as observation indicates that some workers find it difficult to make $100 a week reach through from one payday to the next.

Agreements Vital To World Trade

ONE REQUEST of the President which should receive prompt attention by Congress is in relation to the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act. The President has asked that the act be renewed, on a three-year basis, and in such form as to give the state department and the President adequate authority and freedom for making the reciprocal agreements.

The stimulation of foreign trade is always important to this country, which relies on export for a substantial portion of the margin of profit in industrial production. American industry also is dependent to a large extent on imports of certain essential materials, available in this country either not at all or in inadequate amounts.

At this time clearing away of trade barriers is especially important, because of the post-war economic troubles of many customer countries. For several years this country has been selling so much more abroad than it has bought that almost every country desiring to buy from us now is hard pressed for dollars with which to trade.

Further progress such as already has been made under the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act can help to relieve the situation and to prevent recurrence of such an upset in the world exchange of goods.

A prospective employer is quoted as telling an applicant: "The wages are high, the hours short, and the working conditions lack just enough of being ideal to give you plenty to gripe about."

According to a musical instrument maker, "the banjo is coming back"—which hints at a return of the old-time minstrel show.

Some Factors In GOP Weakness Appear

THIS is written after a trip to Missouri, Oklahoma, Kansas and Illinois. Talk of politics is light these days. Most people, even politicians, are more concerned about the future economic situation and whether Truman is likely to win Congress to his new program of wider socialization.

But here and there people who voted for Dewey are recovering their perspective and are talking about the future of the Republican party.

More interest in this subject will revive in a few days, when the Republican national committee will meet in Omaha to scan the horizon and make plans.

The future status of National Chairman Hugh Scott, jr., is uncertain. He bears the heavy disability of a big victory that slipped off the hook. He has no wide national support, and most of the members of the national committee feel no happiness about further Dewey leadership. Scott may feel, after the Omaha meeting, that retirement is the best thing for himself and for the party.

The national committee must do more than change chairmen. It must decide what can be done to bring coherence to a thoroughly demoralized party. Sacrificial goats are no useful substitute for a new national policy. The committee must get some money and plan laboriously to build upon what is left after the November hurricane.

Voters Lost Confidence.

BUT a new Republican party cannot grow into being through the efforts of any national committee. Nor can it rest its case on a more or less aimless revolt by the "moderns" in the Senate against Senator Taft. The senator from Ohio has provided more constructive phases of party policy than any one of his critics. Merely to protest against him is too negative to win popular support.

The Republican party lost the election largely because of a very simple fact. It forgot that its renaissance after 1938 was based not on a national policy but on local successes.

Politics in this country is the sum of many local situations. Republican governors, mayors and other elected officials worked hard to give the people intelligent, efficient government. They won victory after victory until Congress was recaptured. But in 1948 they lost their hold in states running all the way from Connecticut to Colorado.

Democrats simply had better local candidates in too many states. Dewey fell because his support in those states had lost the confidence of local voters.

It may be a long, weary job to bring the Republican party back. But it must, if it is to recover, start over again back at the county line.

It must offer in every state an alternative to the unlimited spending which seems to be a national Democratic obsession.

A significant feature of virtually every new governor's message this year was the urge to give more and do more at the expense of government. That trend threatens national disaster. Republicans must intelligently contest that trend or they, too, will be swept along with the tide.

Wartime Aim Obscured

By THOMAS L. STOKES

WASHINGTON—Successive developments only emphasize further the need of a full-scale congressional investigation of the anti-monopoly program designed to break up the giant industrial cartels in Germany, which furnished the munitions of war for Adolf Hitler's war and actively promoted the nazi aggression.

Dissolution of these monopolies was a war aim of ours. It seems to have become obscured.

The latest in a long series of incidents comes to light in connection with the recent inquiry in Germany by a three-man commission appointed by Secretary of the Army Kenneth C. Royall.

The secretary was prompted to order the investigation last month by evidence submitted to him about abandonment of the anti-monopoly program as it related to some of the biggest cartels in the field of heavy industry.

The program was curtailed several months ago on instructions by General Lucius D. Clay, U.S. military governor in Germany.

In the course of its inquiry this commission, headed by Garland S. Ferguson, chairman of the Federal Trade commission, called in Alexander Sacks, a lawyer in the decartelization branch of the American military government, in which capacity he has served for 18 months.

In his testimony and in a memorandum he submitted afterward to the commission at its request, Mr. Sacks was critical of William H. Draper, formerly head of the economics division of AMG in Germany, who had much to do with de-cartelization policy and who now is under secretary of the Army here in direct charge of policy for occupied Germany. Mr. Draper formerly was a vice president of Dillon, Read and company and served in the Army during the war.

The lawyer charged that Mr. Draper had hampered enforcement of the de-cartelization program in his post in Germany. It is reported that Mr. Sacks was plain-spoken, which is often his manner.

* * *

Unusual Procedure.

NOW he has been suspended by an order signed by General Charles Gailey, chief of staff for General Clay. The charge is that he attacked the integrity and good faith of Under Secretary Draper.

His suspension is subject to a hearing at which he will be permitted to call witness. He is subject also to court martial. While a civilian employe, he is under military authority in the American military government.

In what appears to be rather unusual procedure in the case of an independent commission, Mr. Ferguson turned a copy of the commission's whole record of its investigation over to Lawrence Wilkinson, General Clay's economic adviser.

Mr. Ferguson remained behind in Germany after the other two members of the commission had returned to the United States—Samuel S. Isseks, New York lawyer, formerly in charge of the New York office of the justice department's anti-trust division, and Arthur Kearney, business management expert of Chicago.

Press dispatches during the Royall commission's inquiry in Germany reported that the commission had learned how the anti-cartel program had been modified and, in the case of certain big corporations, had been completely abandoned.

Mr. Sacks is a recognized authority on German cartels and their ramification, influence and war potential from his experience with the board of economic warfare here during the war when he specialized in that field.

Real Estate Lobby's Propaganda Scheme

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—The real estate lobby has concocted a new and unique wrinkle in propaganda—letters to editors. Charles Stewart, press chief for the National Association or Real Estate boards, conceived this idea for free publicity and sent it out in a confidential letter to local real estate boards.

The letter urged:

"'Letters to the Editor' column of newspapers offer an opportunity to get before the public with facts that are important to public issues affecting real estate . . . This is being overlooked as a public relations medium.

"In every city where rent control prevails, there are persons put to unreasonable hardship by it. Some owners of small rental properties . . . are required to accept depression level rent on properties in which the tenant rents out a room or two for more than the entie maximum rent enforced by the housing expeditor.

"Undoubtedly persons aggrieved in this manner are known to board members. Why not contact them and ask them to give the facts about their individual situations in their own words to editors of local newspapers?"

Downey Perseveres.

BUSY-as-a-bird-dog Senator Sheridan Downey, sometimes called "the Pacific Gas and Electric" senator from California, has been quite active recently re his own worries over re-election. However, he took time out the other day to do some lobbying which won't help his election chances.

Downey a likable and convivial senator, never has bothered too much about his own California colleagues in the House of Representatives. Scarcely had two new Californians settled in their congressional offices, however, but they had calls from good old Sheridan about repealing the 160-acre limitation on water rights in central California.

Downey followed this up by taking the two new congressmen—Cecil White of Fresno and Clinton McKinnon of San Diego—out to lunch. He made no bones about arguing that they should vote to remove the 160-acre restriction, placed on reclamation projects to help the small farmers.

Congressman White happens to own 6,000 acres of California farmland. However, he told the senior senator from his state that he was barking up the wrong tree. Congressman McKinnon feels likewise.

Sheridan is a persevering gentleman, however. Last year he published a mysterious and expensively bound book called "They Would Rule the Valley" and sent it out as lobbying literature. The book carried no identification as to its publisher or as to who paid for its publication.

Downey, the author, is not wealthy, and could not well afford to finance a book with no sales value. But he never did explain who paid for this expensive piece of propaganda literature.

Encouraging Dictators.

LATIN-AMERICAN diplomats are still talking about the way the mayor of New Orleans, charming young deLesseps Morrison, called at the White House several weeks ago and came out to inform the press that President Truman expressed a "very friendly attitude" toward President Peron of Argentina.

This statement sizzled down the press cables to Latin America and was front-paged in every newspaper below the Rio Grande. Naturally it was manna from heaven to the very same military dictatorships President Truman wants to discourage.

What the newspapers didn't mention, however, was the fact Mayor Morrison had been awarded the Argentine Order of Liberator by President Peron; that Mrs. Morrison had been given an extravagant ruby and diamond ring by Senora Peron; and that their trip had been carefully arranged by the Argentine dictator as part of his scheme to win over the Truman administration.

Lurking in the background of this little plot was another gentleman from New Orleans, Andrew Jackson Higgins, the boat builder whom Senator Truman once championed. Higgins also took a free trip to Argentina and came back to urge closer relations with the dictator.

On top of this, Peron cleverly awarded the Order of Liberator to Truman's bibulous, back-slapping military aide, Gen. Harry Vaughan, for his "constant efficient efforts of close friendly relations."

All of which leads to the conclusion that either brother Harry is a very wise guy or the boys around the White House are awfully dumb. Net result of the event has been a lot of embarrassment for Latin dictators.

Note—Actually, President Truman did not encourage the mayor of New Orleans regarding friendship with Dictator Peron. He was quite cagey.

Hot Time In Old Town

By INEZ ROBB

WASHINGTON—With hourly infusion of bicarb and benzedrine, the citizens of Washington should be able to survive the inaugural festivities.

But it ain't going to be easy. For the nation's capital for the first time in a generation is on an inaugural bender. After too many depression and skimpy wartime inaugurations, the joint already is jumping with the first gay, gaudy and light-hearted inauguration it has enjoyed in a quarter of a century.

The formal inauguration of Mr. Truman on Capitol Hill at high noon Thursday merely is the climax of a fiesta which really started Friday night with a pre-inaugural dance by the Massachusetts State Society.

These festivities will not end until Sunday when the Arkansas State Society will pour a slug of life-giving corn squeezin's for any survivor with the strength to crawl to a congressional reception the society is giving in the Senate office building.

The capital already is well-launched into a ten-day celebration combining the most spectacular feature of a dance marathon, Armistice night, an Elks' convention, an American Legion parade and the Mardi Gras.

Everybody wants to get into the act, even the Republicans. The state societies of Maine and Vermont have gotten into the Democratic swing of things for the occasion and each is giving a party for its nationals Thursday night just prior to the Inaugural Ball.

By Wednesday night, Washington will be playing host to an influx of 250,000 paying guests to see and be part of the inaugural crowd.

It is estimated that more people will see President Truman take the oath and see his inaugural parade than have ever witnessed any previous inaugural ceremonies.

The cocktail lounge of the Mayflower hotel already is so crowded there isn't room for an olive in the martinis.

* * *

Who Said "Economy?"

CONGRESS already has echoed with cries of the wounded who charge that Washington hotels are demanding $38 per day for a broom closet, with a requirement of three days occupancy and an advance deposit of $200. This puts the inaugural on the same high financial and cultural plane as the Kentucky derby.

Every one of the 44,000 seats in the stands along the parade route has long since been sold. Another 3,000 are reserved for such dignitaries as Kissin' Jim Folsom, governor of Alabama and Gov. Talmadge of Georgia.

Kissin' Jim, a man who likes it lively, will be accompanied by not one but two brass bands, that of the University of Alabama and also of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

The reviewing stand, right in front of the White House, from which Mr. Truman and his family will see the parade, is receiving its finishing touches. Hot or cold, the presidential family will be cozy in a commodious glassed-in booth.

Lesser dignitaries will have to depend on the weather which is expected to be bright and sunny.

The inauguration is going to be dressy. And if anyone doubts it, or questions the fact the President needs a boost in his take-home pay, let that skeptic read the description of the dresses ordered by the First Lady and her daughter, Margaret, merely for the more formal aspects of the inaugural.

The descriptions of the ten ensembles (five each for Mrs. Truman and Margaret) would force any man to ask his employer, even Uncle Sam, for more scratch.

This is no time for Congress to quibble. Ante up, boys. Mr. Truman needs help. Financial, that is.

—By WALTER KIERNAN

NEWS of a pill to relieve fatigue in the Soviet meant little here . . . Good news would be that more Russians were tired OF the communist state than in it.

* * *

But it is interesting that the new pill smells like a lemon . . . evidently another product of Yalta or Potsdam.

* * *

Incidentally Mr. Truman is still willing to talk with Stalin if he will come to Washingtn . . . Stalin has had his expense account longer.

* * *

Congress may give Harry $50,000 annually without accounting for it . . . except to his wife.

* * *

Mr. Truman has announced he has no objection to any citizen having more than $25,000 left after he pays his taxes . . . And you wouldn't either if you had $50,000 tax free.

* * *

Of course $50,000 isn't so important to Mr. Truman today . . . A few years back it would have saved his shirt. Also his collars.

How It Started

—By JEAN NEWTON

"God Help the Poor."

The correspondent who inquires for the origin of this saying asks also for the history and the meaning of "God help the fool, quoth Pedley."

"God help the poor, for the rich can help themselves" is a reminder of that plague which throughout history has visited parts of the world less fortunate than our own—the plague of famine. It is an old saying found in the Scotch proverbs collected by Kelly and published in 1721. Kelly recorded it as originating in a time of scarcity of bread, which always works its greatest hardship upon the poor.

As Cerf Tells It

Richard Tregaskis, author of "Guadalcanal Diary," could eat more than any other four correspondents put together. One evening he could not quite put away a four-pound steak single-handed, and remarked despondently, to Ward Greene, "I think I've lost my appetite." "I hope," said Greene, "no other newspaperman has found it. It would ruin him in a week."

Celebrate Birth

By CALVIN A. BYERS

EVERY BOY ought to rate one birthday cake every year, at least until he gets to be around ninety or so. There's something strengthening to boyish morale about the sight of a cake with the right number of candles beside his plate at the family table.

Frail indeed is the stripling who cannot extinguish them at one puff! And long indeed are the memories of such homey, gala occasions!

Mother in her apron, dishing up mashed potatoes and gravy. Sister arranging the table and lighting the candles. The roast with dressing, brown and savory, upon the largest platter. The best tablecloth. The good smell of fresh bread, hot dressing, warm pie, coffee. The bowl of crisp cress. Amber honey, applebutter, bread and butter pickles.

A pause with bowed heads, while each says grace in his own way - - - some do this more quickly than others. Then the anticipatory sigh of the smallest brother, as the time to eat is at hand.

* * *

A HAPPY custom that has brought me considerable personal joy is that one of my brothers writes me a birthday letter every year. It is something I look forward to — his annual reminder of the boyhood we shared so briefly, some time ago. I suppose every person alive likes to know someone is glad that he was born.

Many Mansfielders Seek Sunny Skies For Winter

WITH the Christmas holidays past and several months of frigid weather in the offing, the latter part of January marks the start of the annual exodus of Mansfielders to warmer climates, both south and west.

This year, despite the unprecedented snowfalls in California, and sub-normal temperatures in the south, is no exception.

Already enjoying the southern climate are Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Cousins, 358 Park avenue west, who are sojourning at Miami Beach, Fla. Another Mansfield couple registered there are Mr. and Mrs. Fred G. Black, 514 Chevy Chase road.

Mrs. Pauline Black, 262½ Herman avenue, left several days ago by plane to spend the winter months with her son, Robert, in Houston, Texas.

The DeLeon Springs in Florida are luring a number of local tourists seeking respite from the ice and snow which highlights February weather reports in Ohio.

Among this group will be Mr. and Mrs. William Althouse, 683 Maple street; Mrs Frank Cummins, 529 Summit street, and Miss Faye Chamberlain, 33 Penn avenue, all of whom plan to leave within the next two weeks.

Other Florida visitors will be Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Soulen, 555 Overlook road, and Mr. and Mrs. John B. Conard, 508 Woodward avenue

Within the next week a Bellville couple, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Garber, will fly to California, where they will visit Mrs. Garber's relatives in San Francisco, as well as Oakland and Pinole. Then on Feb. 13, they will board a plane for Brisbane, Australia, Mrs. Garber's home before she came to the United States as a "War Bride". They plan to make their future home in Brisbane. Mr. Garber is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Garber, 21 Market street, Bellville.

A three-months' trip to South America is on the schedule for Mr. and Mrs. S. Glen Vinson, of Glenleigh Farms, who will leave the latter part of the month by freighter for Rio de Janeiro, a combination business and pleasure trip. After a stay there they plan to board a plane for a trip into the interior.

Another Mansfield couple planning to visit South America next month are Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Black, Millsboro road, whose trip will be via the air route. They plan to fly down the western coastline, with visits to Buenos Aires, Santiago, and other interesting cities, then proceed to the interior, across the Pampas to the east coast, with the return trip along the eastern South American coastline and home.

Another Mansfield family in Florida for the winter are Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Dann and son, Townsend, who are residing in Dunedin, Fla.

C. M. Crafton and Louis A. Lamoreux have left on a motor trip to Bonita Springs, Fla. Mr. Crafton will remain for six weeks, while Mr. Lamoreux will return within two or three weeks. Another group of motorists heading toward Florida includes Edward Etz, 110 West Third street, and Mr. and Mrs. R LaVerne Henry, 570 Woodhill road.

One Mansfield couple, accompanied by their young son, left recently to make their future home in Florida. They are Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Rader, East Third street, who will live in DeLand, Fla,

Oberlin Man Speaks At Guest Party

"Our names are a link with the past. They carry the landscapes and occupations of medieval days, when surnames come into use," Dr. Howard Robinson told Cosmopolitan club members and guests. "The Origin of Names" was the topic chosen by Dr. Robinson, when he spoke at the Women's club.

There are four main types of names, those designating son of, those derived from places or localities, those from nicknames or personal characteristics, and those from occupations, he said. Dr. Robinson is professor of history at Oberlin college, but has made a hobby of studying names.

He spoke to a group of seventy-five at the annual guest tea of the club. Mrs. D. R. Porch, president of the club, introduced Dr. Robinson.

Loudonville Gets Blame In Epidemic

State Health Head Scores Residents

COLUMBUS — (INS) — State Health Director John D. Porterfield today placed the responsibility for 1,000 cases of enteritis at Loudonville squarely upon residents of the town.

Porterfield announced the epidemic had been cleared up, that no cases of typhoid had been reported, and that his department had no typhoid immunization program planned.

Porterfield blamed the operator of the Loudonville water chlorination plant and Loudonville doctors for the epidemic. He said the operator of the water treatment plant did not report a breakdown of the chlorinator Jan. 5 and that the town's doctors did not report an epidemic disease promptly.

NOTIFICATION TARDY

Porterfield said that many of the town's residents became sick Jan. 6 and that 1,000 cases were reported by Jan. 10, the day when the Loudonville Superintendent of Schools first reported the spread of the disease to Ashland county health officer C. B. Meuser.

Meuser immediately called the department's district sanitary engineer Douglas Griffin, of Mansfield who arrived in Loudonville Jan. 11.

Griffin's investigations led him to the chlorination plant, where the breakdown was discovered for the first time. He organized work to chlorinate water by hand and new parts for the chlorinator arrived by midweek, Porterfield said.

The health director said:

"This emphasizes the fact the Loudonville water system operates with only thin, shallow protection. And the only way to get protection under these circumstances is to notify the people whose responsibility it is to supply protection."

Porterfield said the enteritis spread from one of the three wells from which Loudonville derives its water supply. He commented:

"This well is dangerously close to a sewer line and the people of Loudonville were warned of their danger last August."

The health director said Loudonville had since passed a bond issue to finance a complete water treatment plant. However, he said, the city authorities have spent the time since passage of the bond issue discussing proper treatment methods and making preliminary plans for the plant.

Escaper Back, Gets Leniency

A 21-year-old Mansfield reformatory inmate who escaped from the Grafton honor camp on Oct. 1 last year, gave himself up to institution guards late yesterday.

Supt. Arthur L. Glattke of the OSR, identified the returned escaper as Delbert Scott of Lucas county, received on Nov. 26, 1947 to serve a one-to-15-year sentence for burglary.

Glattke said Scott's penalty for escape would be cut to six months additional time because of his voluntary return.

Paul Kranz Heads Board

Paul Kranz, of Shiloh, will head the Richland county Board of Education this year. He was elected to the office of president at the board's annual election meeting Saturday.

E. C. Culler, of Lucas, was elected to the board's vice presidency. He will replace Kranz, who filled the office last year.

Kranz replaces Fred W. Dill, the new county commissioner, as president of the board.

Shorter Enlistments

A story appearing in Sunday's News-Journal erroneously stated the Mansfield army recruiting office had been instructed not to accept enlistments for less than three years.

While all two-year enlistments have been cancelled, Capt. R. L. Pine said today the army still is taking 18-year-olds for one year enlistments, and men from 19 to 25 inclusive for 21-month enlistments.

AT and T Loses Ground, Other Stocks Plod Along Quietly

NEW YORK —(AP)— American Telephone lost further ground at the opening of the stock market today.

A decline of ⅜ to A. T & T put the issue at a new low since 1943. The stock has weakened steadily since news late last week of a department of justice anti-monopoly suit against the company.

The balance of the market plodded along quietly without getting very far from Saturday's closing levels.

Gains appeared for Santa Fe, Sears Roebuck, Studebaker, Spiegel, and Radio Corp. On the losing side were United Air Lines, Western Union, Bethlehem Steel, and Boeing.

Numerous issues were unchanged.

BEWARE OF PIN-WORMS

Medical reports reveal that an amazing number of children and adults are victims of Pin-Worms.

Watch for the warning signs, especially the embarrassing, nagging rectal itch. After centuries of Pin-Worm distress a really effective way to deal with them has been established through JAYNE'S P-W, the new Pin-Worm treatment developed in the laboratories of Dr. D. Jayne & Son. The small, easy-to-take P-W tablets give satisfaction or your money back. So why take chances on Pin-Worms! If you suspect this ugly infection, ask your druggist for P-W and follow the directions.

Pay Raise Hopes Dim In Ashland

City Employes Hit By Budget

ASHLAND — No pay raises for city employes are in sight in Ashland's 1949 appropriations, the ordinance for which was approved by city council at a special meeting. Expenditures of $432,604.10 are anticipated in the appropriations ordinance.

The ordinance not only fails to anticipate any pay raises but also appropriates $300 less in the general fund.

The economy legislation approved by city council follows a year in which the city built up a general fund balance of $21,435.38 without incumbrance.

Further following the economy program, council and Mayor Louis E. Mansfield have received four bids for disposal of garbage collection with the bidders offering to pay the city for the privilege of collecting garbage. In the past the city has paid for having the garbage hauled away for feeding.

City police department's request for pay raises was not considered in the appropriations ordinance but the police representative, Chief Harry Smith, was informed by council the request will receive careful consideration and a solution may be found in the near future.
